Pressure injury prevention: SSKIN bundle

A pressure injury, also known as a pressure ulcer, pressure sore or bed sore, is damage to the skin and underlying tissues caused by unrelieved pressure. Most pressure injuries are preventable.

You may be at higher risk of developing pressure injuries if you:

- have diabetes
- have loss of feeling or sensation
- are having or recovering from surgery
- are over the age of 65
- have a dark skin tone
- have a medical device, such as a splint, in place
- have difficulty moving, changing position or walking
- have many health conditions

Following the SSKIN tips will help keep you safe.

Skin inspection

Tell someone if you see or feel any changes to your skin like changes in color, texture/consistency, temperature, pain or numbness.

Surface

Using a special mattress, pillow or cushion may help protect your skin.

Keep Moving

Change your position regularly when lying in bed or sitting in a chair. Shift your position regularly if able.

Incontinence and moisture

Ask for support with going to the bathroom and try to keep any moisture away from the skin.

Nutrition and hydration

Drink plenty of water if safely able and eat well.

If you have had a pressure injury, please let our team know.
Talk with your care team about participating in prevention.
